PHASE I OF THE RIVERWALK

PHASE I

Phase I of the Riverwalk begins at the Green Street bridge with a street crossing and a gazebo on the east side of the street. The brick paver pathway continues east past the site of the Curtis Commercial project and the McHenry Villa to the Riverwalk Place Townhomes. At the townhomes the pathway transitions to a composite wood walkway that cantilevers over the water. The most important feature of Phase I, the new pedestrian bridge, can be found at the townhome project and spans the creek to connect to Riverside Drive. The bridge creates a link between two of the downtown districts that, in the past, may have seemed isolated from one another..

Construction of Phase I of the Riverwalk began in February 2006 with the installation of a seawall to stabilize the stream bank and serve as a foundation for the new natural boulder edge shoreline. Construction on the walk itself began in the summer of 2006. Though the walk has been utilized extensively throughout the construction process, the final details were put in place for our Grand Opening on:

September 22, 2007
